

Designer Dad

After having children, Chris Pegula, aka The Diaper Dude, realized that diaper bags were way too feminine for guys to carry with any enthusiasm. So the Santa Monica, California, dad decided to design his own line and in the process changed how fathers deal with diaper duty (no more toting baby's gear in a gym bag). Pictured here with Cole, 4, he has two other kids, Juliet, 7, and Kai, 9.

They may forget to pick up their socks, but fathers will also pull out all the stops for their kids. Meet the newest members of

The Dads Hall of Fame

BY JODY MACE AND RACHEL MORRIS